GOLD COAST MEMORIES

Norway Hall

Longtime Glen Head residents may recall that the Gold Coast Public Library building was once the home of Norway Hall, a fixture in the community for almost 60 years until its closing in 1991. The site for countless dances, wedding receptions, bazaars and parties, it opened in 1932 without electricity, water or gas. Lodge members dug a one-block trench for water. Wires were strung along treetops to a member's home for electricity. Heat came from a kerosene stove.

Special thanks to Albert Hartmann and the Novak family for sharing these photos of the Library's home during its first days. If you have photographs to share, please bring them in or contact the Library at: gcinfo@goldcoastlibrary.org
